The diagram, titled 'KEY PLAN' in large, bold, black letters at the top left, is a grayscale map of the Tel Aviv-Yafo region. It features a dense network of roads, rail lines, and buildings. A prominent feature is a large, dark gray rectangular area in the upper left, representing the Jaffa Port. To the right of this port, a large, dark gray area with the Hebrew word 'בָּבֶן' (Babhan) written in large, bold, block letters is highlighted with a thick green border. Below this, a large, light gray shaded area represents the coastal plain. The map also shows the location of the Tel Aviv-Yafo International Airport, marked with a small black dot. The entire map is set against a light gray background with a subtle grid pattern.
