Dear Sir/Madam

The site at the Lee Rd is not a small infill site but one of the finest areas of green belt in the beautiful Lee Valley. It is on the Northern bank, just above the Lee road and river. It is opposite the Lee Fields. It is visible from there and from the straight road. It is surrounded by green belt to the south, west and north. The view from the straight road to the north is the most beautiful entrance to Cork city. It would be a disgrace not to preserve this beautiful amenity for the people of Cork.

Regards,

Clare Cotter
